The popularity of long hair and beards caused 2,400 barbershops in this country to go out of business last year, the Associated Press reported the other day. Countless other shops reduced their staffs.

Surveys of this sort have become familiar. One question they invariably leave unanswered. What is happening to the surplus barber chairs? The loquacious barber will not be missed. His clippers lift the ears but not the heart. And his tonics please only those who do not drink sterno.

But the barber's chair - ah, that is something else. Its hydraulic system is more marvelous than electric locomotion. In grandeur, it is superior to thrones in all but the major kingdoms. The age of simplicity in design and shoddiness in workmanship bypassed it. If only as custodian of his chair, the barber must be, somehow, conserved. - Norfolk (Va.) Virginian-Pilot

Apollo 15 Prepared for Moon Trip

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts watched today as their Saturn 5 rocket made its first move toward the moon, a slow three and one half mile trip from the assembly building to the launch pad.

David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden were at a viewing site a few hundred feet away as their 36-story tall rocket-spacecraft combination moved out of its hangar at 6:30 a.m. EDT, standing upright on the broad back of a tank-like transporter.

"This is the beginning of one of the most singular, significant scientific explorations ever undertaken," Scott said. "There is more science equipment contained in this one vehicle than man has ever seen before. We're looking forward to flying the mission."

The transporter traveled at a maximum speed of one mile an hour. The trip to the launch pad was to take several hours.

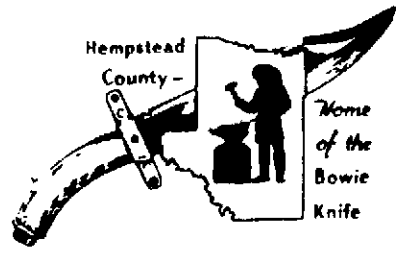

Scott, Irwin and Worden are to blast off for the moon July 16, with the Saturn 5 reaching a speed of nearly 25,000 miles an hour.

After posing for pictures with the rocket in the background, Scott and Irwin went to a training area to don their space suits to rehearse for several hours on a mock moonscape.

Included was extensive practice with a model of a four-wheel moon buggy like the one they will drive on the moon.

While Worden orbits alone, Scott and Irwin are to land in one of the most ancient regions of the moon to search for lunar secrets. Called Hadley-Apennine, it is a narrow valley surrounded on three sides by mountain peaks up to 13,000 feet high on the fourth by a deep winding gorge.

Egypt Back to Hard Line on Suez

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egypt told Secretary of State William P. Rogers that before it will reopen the Suez Canal, Israel will have to pull back 115 miles from the waterway and within six months agree to a timetable for withdrawal from all occupied Arab lands.

The Egyptians also refused to commit themselves to allowing Israeli ships to use the canal, saying only that they would study the question "within our political organizations" and take a stand later.

President Anwar Sadat on Monday night gave this report of the talks last week with the American secretary of state. Sadat spoke to the 360-member parliamentary committee of the ruling Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only political party.

"We told Rogers that withdrawal of Israeli troops in the first stage should be back to El Arish, 115 miles east of the canal," Sadat said.

Within six months of that first withdrawal, Sadat continued, U.N. Middle East envoy Gunnar V. Jarring should set a timetable for a complete Israeli pullout from all occupied Arab territory.

On the Israeli insistence that the canal should be opened to its shipping, Sadat said he told Rogers: "We will first study it within our political organizations before giving you an answer."

Sadat described Rogers' Middle East mission as an effort to move negotiations "from a standstill to an active phase."

Rogers met with Sadat last week before visiting Israel. The Egyptian president afterwards conferred again with Joseph Sisco, assistant secretary of state, who flew to Cairo Saturday to present Israel's views.

Sadat said Israel's views or questions relayed by Sisco were:

What assurances would Egypt give to guarantee the passage of Israeli ships through the canal?

—Israel would agree to a partial pullback, provided Egyptian forces do not cross the canal.

—Israel refused to give up key points but was prepared to negotiate this question with Egypt.

—Any interim or full settlement should be endorsed first by the Israeli parliament.

Dollar Rallies on Frankfurt Exchange, Is Mixed Elsewhere

FRANKFURT (AP) — The dollar rallied slightly on the Frankfurt currency market today, was steady in dealings among Paris banks and fell again on the Brussels market.

Initial trading in West Germany was very light on the second day since the realignment of rates to check the speculative rush last week to exchange dollars for West German marks.

The dollar opened in Frankfurt at 3.545 marks and quickly rose to 3.55.

Paris banks quoted the dollar at 5.53-5.55 francs, compared with Monday's closing 5.52-5.54. In Brussels, on the free exchange, the rate varied between 49.1 and 49.2 Belgian francs. Before trading started some banks were quoting 49.35. Despite pressure from the

Press Fails to Halt Hike in Postage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge today denied a request by magazine and newspaper publishers to block temporary increases in postal rates, including a boost of two cents in the price of a stamp, scheduled to go into effect on Sunday.

Judge William B. Bryant denied a request for a preliminary injunction against the imposition of the higher rate that had been sought by the Magazine Publishers Association and the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The U.S. Postal Service has scheduled the rate increases averaging about one-third of present rates to take effect on Sunday.

Under the temporary increases, a regular stamp will go from six cents to eight cents; airmail stamps from 10 cents to 11 cents; post cars from five cents to six cents and second and third class rates will be increased by approximately 30 per cent.

The magazine and newspaper publishers and three other organizations representing mailers had contended that the temporary rate increase would be illegal since the Postal Rate Commission has not had time to consider the permanent rates sought by the Postal Service.

Scanner to Condense 150 Pages to 1

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Brain wave data that usually covers 150 pages can now be condensed through a computerized system to a single page for instant scanning by doctors, researchers report.

Dr. Reginald G. Bickford of the University of California at San Diego described the new technique Monday as a kind of shorthand of the mind. He said the system can reduce a small mountain of brain wave readings to one page in less than five minutes.

Existing systems, he said, require an average of 150 pages to record similar data, which take an expert several days to read and analyze.

Bickford is the head of the school's department of electroencephalography—the recording and study of brain waves. He led the research team that developed the system, which he says is so graphic that even students can easily pick out trouble cases.

"In the long run," he said, "this may well revolutionize the practice of electroencephalography in so far as the report would go from the computer technician directly to the clinician, eliminating in most cases the intervention of the electro-encephalographer."

Readings are taken through scalp contacts from the frontal lobes, the parts of the brain that control planning and the most complicated thought processes, Bickford said. The computer then converts the readings to close grouped parallel lines.

"This gives the brain waves an appearance of a mountain range in three dimensions and makes it possible to see the important features," explained Bickford. Abnormal brain activity—such as that caused by a tumor or epilepsy—shows clearly as a peak in the graph.

One advantage of the technique is that the readout is clear even though the lines are tightly compressed together, Bickford said. "The voluminous brain data can be compressed several thousand times so that it becomes manageable," he said.

New Rail Strike Threat Next Week

CHICAGO (AP) — The Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen says its 13,000 members will strike the nation's railroads next week unless a final round of meetings beginning today accomplishes what the past 20 months of negotiations have failed to.

C.J. Chamberlain, union president, said Monday the grand executive council ordered the strike for 6 a.m., local time next Monday. The action would halt all the nation's rail service including fledgling Amtrak and commuter trains, he said.

After Chamberlain's announcement, W.J. Usery Jr., assistant secretary of labor, said a meeting was scheduled for today in Washington among representatives of the Labor Department, the union and the National Labor Relations Board. If no agreement is reached, only a court order or congressional action could halt a strike.

The union, Chamberlain said, is seeking a 54 per cent wage increase over three years, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1970. The signalmen have been operating without a new contract since that date.

The union received a 3 per cent increase July 1, 1969. Chamberlain said the current average wage for skilled signalmen is $3.78 an hour.

"It just doesn't make sense that skilled employees must put up with substandard rates of pay, substandard working and living conditions in this day and age when their counterparts in outside industry receive from $1.50 to $3.00 per hour more," Chamberlain said.

The union had called a strike for March 5, but President Nixon ordered a 60-day cooling off period and appointed an emergency board to investigate the dispute. The board recommended pay hikes of up to 42 per cent over 42 months. The strike ban period ends at 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

Chamberlain said past negotiations have been fruitless.

Jury in L.R. Murder Case Deadlocked

MCGEHEE, Ark. (AP) — A circuit court jury reported Monday night it was unable to reach a verdict in the first-degree murder trial of Tommy Blankenship, 29, of McGehee, who was charged in the death of his wife last July 1.

The jury returned at 11:40 p.m. after seven hours of deliberation and reported it was deadlocked. Judge Randall Williams declared no verdict and dismissed the jury.

Another trial will probably be held for Blankenship during the next term of circuit court at McGehee. Desha County Sheriff Robert Moore said Blankenship would remain free on $10,000 bond.

Mrs. Sandra Blankenship, 24, was found brutally beaten at the couple's home.

State Medical Examiner Rodney Carlton had testified that it was his opinion Mrs. Blankenship sustained injuries to her head at least three hours prior to her death and possibly as long as 12 hours before she died.

Potlatch to Get Rehearing on Wages

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A lawsuit, which asks that a 1915 state law requiring women to be paid time-and-a-half for more than eight hours worked in one day be nullified, has been returned to Federal Judge J. Smith Henley.

Henley dismissed the suit by Potlatch Forests, Inc., last October, but the firm appealed to the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

12 Bald Eagles Die From Eating Poisoned Bait for Coyotes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eagle lovers have received some good and bad news—the birth of two American golden eagles in a Kansas zoo and the death of 12 bald eagles in Wyoming.

The golden eagles were born at the Topeka Zoo. Officials said Monday the hatchlings were believed to make the first birth of golden eagles in captivity. One of the new birds was born nine days ago, the other six days ago.

In Casper, Wyo., Dr. Oliver Scott, a founder of the local Audubon Society chapter, said most of the bald eagle population that winters in Jackson Canyon has been wiped out.

He said the remains of 16 eagles, including 12 bald eagles, have been found in the canyon in the past 10 days. Conservationists believe the birds were the victims of poison set out by sheep ranchers for coyotes, bobcats and other predators.

Reagan May Quit Politics Says Wife

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's wife, embittered by political attacks on her husband, says she hopes he will quit politics after this term as governor.

"I don't think I'd be for it," Nancy Reagan said when asked if she would want her 60-year-old Republican husband to run for office again.

"I would hope that he would not," the former movie starlet said in a television interview Monday.

The governor has hinted he might run for the U.S. Senate in 1974 but has said he would not seek a third four-year term as governor when his current term expires then.

Mrs. Reagan, 46, said she was cautioned by friends before Reagan ran for governor in 1966 that "politics is such a dirty field, it's just dirty and don't get into this."

Mike Boyd of Sacramento's KCRA television and radio asked her if she has found this to be the case.

"Yes. Yes. Yes, I have," she replied. "Unfortunately, because I've always believed that most people are basically good and I'm trying very hard to hang onto that. But it's very difficult at the moment."

She said she is particularly bitter about the political controversy over the fact that she and Reagan, a millionaire from his television acting days, didn't owe any California personal income taxes this year because of business losses in 1970.

3.02-Inch Rain Here Is Highest

The experiment station at Hope reported receiving 3.02 inches of rain for the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today. The heavy downpours caused street flooding in Hope with major underpasses being blocked for about 30 minutes. The driver of one car that had stalled in an underpass had to climb out his window and get on the roof of the car.

Officials said the water drained quickly and there was no damage to any business.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Precipitation in Arkansas should be ending from the west tonight as cooler air moves in to the state from the northwest.

The Canadian air that is expected to push into the state could drop temperatures into the 30s tonight in some areas. Temperatures are expected to remain below normal through the remainder of the week because of the slow movement of the high pressure system.

Heavy thunderstorms developed over the state again Monday and more showers and thunderstorms are forecast today.

Marble sized hail was reported in sections of North Little Rock Monday afternoon and in the Harrison area. Wind damage was reported in the Woodlawn and Swan Lake near Pine Bluff.

The heaviest rainfall occurred in the western sections of the state.

Highs Monday ranged from the low 70s in the northwest to low 80s in the east central section. Highs today should be in the 70s north to low 80s south. Highs Wednesday are forecast in the 50s and 60s north to 70s south.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 59, Harrison 56, Jonesboro 61, Pine Bluff 61, Texarkana 62, El Dorado 62, Memphis 64, Little Rock 59 and Fort Smith 60.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m. include: 13 at Jonesboro and Texarkana, 57 at Harrison, 87 at Fayetteville, 45 at Memphis, 70 at Little Rock and 1.03 at Pine Bluff.

SS Transport Revived by New Bill

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A leadership-backed attempt to resurrect the supersonic-transport plane headed for a House vote today and no one was predicting the outcome.

Backers and foes of the 1,800-mile-an-hour plane agreed there was a chance the House would approve enough money to continue development of the SST through June 30.

"My guess is that we're going to have one helluva job," said Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., an SST backer.

The vote on an amendment to turn an $85.3-million SST contract-termination allocation in a $6.8-billion supplemental appropriation bill into continuation of the 1,800-mile-an-hour SST's development.

Speaker Carl Albert backed the drive. House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford helped draft the amendment, then worked behind the scenes to line up support for it.

Backers had pinned their hopes for House turnout on the abrupt layoff of some 15,000 SST workers across the country following Congress' scrapping of the program. They also banked on France's announced determination to move to the top in aviation with the Anglo-French Concorde SST.

And, proponents hoped to pick up votes from a small number of congressmen who voted against the SST in March but now want approval of a $250-million loan guarantee to keep Lockheed Corp. defense work going in their districts.

The House voted 215 to 204 in March to halt all federal funds for development of two SST prototypes and the Senate voted 51 to 46 to halt the money.

The new $85.3 million would renew the program until June 30. Congress would then face another fight over SST for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Republican Leader Ford said the Nixon administration had nothing to do with the SST resurrection drive.

"It was something that got started up here (in Congress)," Ford said.

The drive's prime movers were Seattle Reps. Thomas M. Pelly, Republican, and Brock Adams, Democrat, in whose hometown the 7,000 Boeing workers were laid off.

Charged With Attempted GI Kidnaping

PANAMA (AP) — Two U.S. Army investigators have been charged with trying to kidnap three American servicemen given asylum by the Panamanian government, officials reported Monday night. Panama has decided to protest the incident to the U.S. government.

Officials said two of the three servicemen, both black, complained of racial discrimination in the U.S. forces in the Canal Zone. They are Bernard Pryer, 24, of Philadelphia, and Tobey Wagner, 22, of Brooklyn, who escaped April 27 from Ft. Clayton in the Canal Zone.

They were being held in connection with a fight at Ft. Davis several weeks earlier when two white military policemen tried to arrest a black soldier. Pryer and Wagner told newsmen they escaped because they were certain they would not get a fair trial.

The third soldier, Esteban Llana, was born in Panama of Chilean parents. He was on emergency leave from the U.S. Air Force in Tacoma, Wash., because of the death of his father.

Llana charged that Latin Americans were discriminated against in the U.S. armed forces and he had decided to stay in Panama to help support his mother and her 12 other children. It was understood that he had previously applied for U.S. citizenship.

Carlos T. Wattino and Jesus Rosales were identified as the two U.S. citizens charged with the kidnaping attempt, which allegedly occurred Sunday in Panama City. Both were described as members of the U.S. Army Criminal Investigations Division.

In Washington, however, the Pentagon said neither was a CID agent. A spokesman said one of the men, whom he did not identify, was a file clerk. He added the two had no official sanction for what they did. Both, he said, were on their own.

Wattino and Rosales denied the charges at a news conference Monday. Kidnaping carries a sentence of up to 20 years imprisonment.

Foreign Minister Juan Antonio Tack said Panama was lodging a formal protest with the U.S. Embassy over the incident.

Jailed Antis Interviewed in Cells

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many antiwar protesters arrested during last week's demonstrations here have been questioned in their cells by House Internal Security Committee investigators looking for subversive influence in the protests.

A committee spokesman said six or seven staff members may have interviewed as many as hundreds of young people awaiting trial.

Officials say no lawyers were present during the questioning.

Authority for the panel investigators to interview prisoners in a District cellblock and in a makeshift holding compound at Washington Coliseum was given by Capt. Y.H. Garner, administrative assistant to Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson.

Asked whether such authorization was unusual, Garner replied: "There was nothing unusual about the whole situation."

But, he said, it is police policy to cooperate with congressional committees.

More than 12,000 persons were arrested in the demonstrations last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A spokesman for the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice, a sponsor of the demonstrations, said the interviews were "blatantly irregular, if not blatantly illegal."

"They (the committee) did it at such a time that none of the lawyers heard about it and none of the judges heard about it," said Frank Greer, a member of the Coalition steering committee.

Greer, who was arrested at a demonstration outside the Capitol Wednesday, said 10 of the 50 or 60 persons in his cellblock Friday were interviewed.

He said the interviews stopped after the word spread down the cellblock that the questioners had nothing to do with legal processing and that the questioners were from a congressional investigating committee.

A committee spokesman said the investigators were looking for demonstrators "who are members of absolute subversive groups, trying to find out how many were there and what they were doing."

He said those questioned "were people involved in groups the committee recently voted to investigate."

The committee, formerly called the House Committee on Un-American Activities, voted in executive session April 28 to investigate both the People's Coalition and the National Peace Action Council.

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., committee chairman, said in House remarks April 6 that both organizations are "known to be operating under substantial Communist influence."

The Council, Ichord said, is an action group for the Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party.

"Well-known Communist Party functionaries," he said, are "among the top leadership" of the People's Coalition.

Hanoi Exploits POWs, Charge

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A defector from North Vietnam said today that Hanoi subjects American prisoners of war to "brutal interrogation" and exploits them intensively for strategic and propaganda purposes.

Dr. Dang Tan, a former Communist party official in the North, said the Communists "usually put the prisoners on parade through the streets of Hanoi and other cities."

Tan, who came to South Vietnam four years ago and defected 20 months ago, said in a prepared statement read to a news conference:

"American POWs are subjected to all brutal interrogation methods which the North Vietnamese skillfully employ to extract information from them. This includes brainwashing and political indoctrination. It is the objective of the Central Committee policies to win over the minds of the American POWs."

"The Central Committee of North Vietnam considers that American POWs must be intensively exploited, both for strategic, intelligence and for propaganda purposes. The Ministry of Public Security and the Ministry of National Defense of North Vietnam compete with each other for the exploitation of the American POWs. North Vietnam blatantly violates the International Geneva Convention of 1949 for the humane treatment of POWs by permitting other Communist bloc countries, including the Soviet Union, Communist China, Cuba and others, to exploit the American POWs. This includes trying to take advantage of the families and friends of these POWs in the United States."

Tan said Hanoi will not release all of the American prisoners "now or in the future" because "the Communists believe the POWs are very competent and will be useful to them in the future. They are trying to use their talents now ... Those POWs will not have a chance to go home."

Tan, a slight, bespectacled man of 42, defected in late September 1969 in Pleiku Province in South Vietnam's central highlands. He said he joined the Communist party in 1948 and, after holding a series of administrative posts in North Vietnam, he was sent to South Vietnam in 1967. He said he set up a hospital in the central highlands "where for two years I treated the wounded and trained medical cadres in the face of bombings and hardships."

In an interview earlier with Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen, Tan claimed that Soviet, Chinese, Cuban, North Korean and French "military strategists" were advising the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces fighting in South Vietnam.

He said he saw these foreign advisers at rest stations on the Ho Chi Minh trail when he traveled south in 1967 and in the next two years in Pleiku he saw "four or five groups of foreign military strategists, each numbering three to five men."

The French were soldiers who had been captured in the 1946-54 Indochina war, he said.

Mills' Main Goal to Unify Factions in U.S. Congress

By CHRIS FRENCH
Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Democratic Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas says he has no presidential ambitions and his only political aspiration outside of Congress is to unify his party.

"I'm not looking toward any particular person as a candidate," said Mills after talking to the Tennessee Legislature on revenue sharing and welfare reform. "I'm looking for a cohesiveness in the Democratic party which has been lacking for a long time."

Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, said suggestions that he be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination are flattering.

"I'm honored particularly that they're coming from the branch of government I'm involved in," said Mills. "But I've said I'm not a candidate and I do not want my name on the ballot."

Tennessee's new presidential primary law requires that the secretary of state list all active candidates on the primary ballots and Mills would have to request his name be removed in a letter to the secretary of state. He asked if he would write such a letter.

"I'm in the hands of my friends including the three we have here," said Mills waving his hand at U.S. Reps. William Anderson, Ray Blanton and Richard Fulton, all Tennessee Democrats.

"I'm not a candidate and I think it would be a stretch to say I even have a chance," Mills added. "However, should I be nominated, I'd be as active a candidate as the Democratic party ever had."

Mills told Tennessee's 132 legislators the Nixon Administration's proposed revenue sharing plan "is very bad in principle and capricious in results."

"I predict it will not be approved by the Ways and Means Committee or Congress," Mills said. "Certainly that is my hope."

Mills said that rather than increasing the independence of state and local governments as Vice President Spiro Agnew had told the legislature last week, it would make Washington even more dominant.

Mills said there was nothing in the plan to prevent the federal government in the future completes what the past 20 months of negotiations failed to do.

Bank Regulations Proposed

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first large-scale effort since the New Deal to revise bank regulatory laws is under way in Congress.

Two weeks of hearings before the House Banking Committee produced little disagreement that an updating is in order. But agreement is still far off on terms of what is sure to be complex and controversial legislation.

It is expected to deal with such things as:

—Links between financial institutions, and between such institutions and corporations which look to them for credit, through overlapping boards of directors.

—Bank accumulation in trust funds of corporation stocks, enough, some critics say, potentially to allow banks to control some companies.

—Brokered deposits: Those arranged by third parties for a fee and, according to testimony, in some instances linked to shaky loans that figured in bank failures.

—"Equity kickers," the charging, in addition to or instead of interest, of a share of the profits of a venture financed by a lending institution.

A basic decision for the committee is whether to write flat prohibitions or restrictions into the law, or to allow the bank regulatory agencies discretion within guidelines to deal with individual situations.

Spokesmen for the agencies favored the more flexible approach. The Nixon administration is expected to take the same position in the recommendations it has promised to deliver to the committee within the next few weeks. The committee plans to go to work about mid-June on the actual language of the proposed legislation.

Present restrictions on director interlocks go back to the pre-World War I Clayton Act. In terms of today's banking conditions, they are narrowly limited, applying only to commercial banks that are members of the Federal Reserve System. Interlocks are prohibited between banks operating in the same community.

A bill introduced by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, would prohibit director interlocks not only among commercial banks, but among savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks, insurance companies, brokerage firms, credit unions; between lending institutions and corporations for which they manage employee benefit accounts, or have voting control over 5 per cent or more of the stock, or maintain "substantial and continuing loan relationships."

Pearl Oysters
Pearl oysters are not true oysters but are more closely allied to the common mussel. They are found throughout the East Indies, the Malay Archipelago, in the Persian Gulf and along the east coast of Africa.

YOUTH BEAT

WHAT TIME IS IT? — Thousands of older young folk should know that the answer to that question is: "It's Howdy Doody time." And, believe it or not, it's Howdy Doody time all over again as good ol' Buffalo Bob Smith makes the rounds of college campuses with his Howdy Doody Revival Show. Former Howdy Doody fans are going bananas reminiscing about the funny-looking little puppet they remember so well from the late 1950s. Buffalo Bob's show even played New York's Fillmore East and a record company is putting out an album called "It's Howdy Doody Time." Remember all the Howdy Doody products you used to be able to buy... like T-shirts, pencil boxes, lunch boxes, glasses and pencil sharpeners? Well, there's a girl in New York City who saved all of that stuff and she just knows it's worth a lot of bread now, but she's not selling... yet. Those of you who don't remember

Dear Helen: This was our first time dating as Tim and I aren't quite 16. We like each other a lot, or so I thought. He had "ideas" sometimes, but I could control them.

Well, one night he called and said his parents wanted to meet me. I asked, "This isn't a trick?" because he knew how I felt. So we were on our way, but he acted Howdy are in for a treat when Buffalo Bob's show gets to your town. Those of you who do... well, nothing more needs to be said.

WHOLE LOTTA LOVE—There are currently more than 40 different recorded versions of the theme from the "Love Story" flick in circulation, including discs by Glen Campbell, Astrud Gilberto, Vikki Carr, Johnny Mathis and Liberace.

MANDRILL MAKES IT—You've got to hear this new group, Mandrill. They can sound like Chicago, Santana and any hard rock band you can name, often in the same piece of music. Their first album, called Mandrill (what else?), is out now on Polydor. It's simply great.

MARCHING ON—Myrna March is a super-lady. At least, that's the rumor. She started out as a singer and hostess of a TV talk show (at the ripe old age of 14), switched to studying legitimate singing (she was a contralto), then went into song-writing and now owns her own record producing company and talent agency. She's also recording R&B and country songs herself. Her company, called Make Music, is putting out three records at once—one on the King label and two on Myrna's own label, Agape (a Greek word meaning brotherly love).

She handles The Manhattan, who are playing the Apollo Theater with the Supremes this month, and she wrote the hit for The Three Degrees, "I Do Take You."

BEST BELLY BUTTON—We're sure you're all dying to find out who won that belly button beauty pageant that the Tanya suntan lotion folks held down in Fort Lauderdale, right? According to the official navel examiners at the contest, the best button belonged to 18-year-old Jayne Cherry, of Evansville, Ind., who won the "best in the show" category. If all this rap about beautiful belly buttons is giving you an inferiority complex, cheer up, because if you just tell us, care of this newspaper, in 50,000 words or less (preferably much, much less) why you want a new belly button, we'll send you one... honest... for free.

When I got there he sneaked me in quick "so the neighbors won't see us." Everything seemed all right and we were just watching TV, and then he turned off the lights and well... Somehow his getting fresh didn't seem wrong at the time, but afterwards I felt so guilty and rotten—like a bum I didn't stay very long, but it was too long, anyway.

When I got home I had to make up a story about what Tim's parents looked like to my mother, and that made me feel rotten.

The next day at school Tim wouldn't even talk to me and he hasn't asked me out since. I asked my girl friend to find out why he was avoiding me and he told her I was "too friendly."

Helen, it's bad enough having this bad conscience, but does he have to hate me for something he planned? It's been four months and I've got over the puppy love part, but why does he treat me like the enemy? Why can't we be "just friends"?—AVIDED

Dear Avoided: Boys have consciences, too, and I imagine Tim's gave him fits after his little plan worked. This especially if some of his buddies put him up to it (they do, you know), then expected a locker room report.

So... to make HIM feel less guilty, he says YOU are "too friendly." What we have here is a war between an inexperienced boy's ideals and his urges, with you the loser because he ignores what he'd rather not face. Let him know you don't think he's a louse, and I think you'll soon be friends—just friends—again.—H.

Dear Helen: I'm going on 14 1/2 and the girls have given me a nickname which I hate because it's true: Flatsy. How can I stop this?—CLOTHESHANGER

Dear C.H.: Wear a slightly padded bra, tell 'em "Better Flatsy than Flopsy," and cheer up: At 14 1/2 there's still room for growth.—H.

Dear Helen: My parents don't like each other very well. I guess they used to, because there are 10 kids, but now Mom is about 30 pounds overweight and Dad runs around. He accuses Mom of stepping out, but how could she with several children underfoot?

We love them both in spite of the fighting and wish they'd get together again. Their 20th anniversary is coming up. Do you think if we gave them a big party, they might see how dumb it is to argue and accuse each other all the time?—THE OLDER KIDS

Dear Kids: One party won't stop chronic fighting, but if your parents see how much you care, it might be a start.

But... Don't make it a surprise party!—H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Mel Torme and a good research staff are parlaying nostalgia and sentiment into a pretty good bet as an ABC summer show.

"It Was a Very Good Year," in its premiere Monday night, focused on 1945, the year World War II ended. The program was bound to evoke memories for any viewer over 35.

It was fairly easy to assemble the material, but the sights and particularly the musical sounds were put together effectively. Torme, working in front of an orchestra, opened the show with "Sentimental Journey," one of the top songs, and followed it by scribbling "Kilroy was here" on a blackboard.

Recalled were such sights as the V-for-victory sign, an olive-drab Jeep with a star on the hood, queues of women trying to buy scarce nylon stockings, ration stamps, V-mail and Rosie the Riveter.

Torme reeled off some of the popular radio programs of the day—"Duffy's Tavern," "The F.B.I. in Peace and War," "Easy Aces" and "Information Please."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, in his final months as president and in death, dominated the program. There was a montage of brief film clips that gave a picture of the war in Europe and the Pacific and activity on the home front.

The mushroom cloud of the first atomic explosion was there, and then some most effective newsreel film showing American fighting men coming home to emotional reunions with their families.

It was a fast surface skimming of 12 months that included fashions, hair styles and even a sampling of prices for staples—20-cent-a-quart milk and 60-cent-a-pound coffee.

The older viewer, remembering as if it were yesterday, was brought up short when Torme reminded that it was the year composer Jerome Kern and Glenn Miller died—and the year Goldie Hawn and Mia Farrow were born: not quite yesterday after all.

LOSE UP TO 20 POUNDS IN 14 DAYS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right—20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full," no starvation, because the diet is designed that way! It's a diet that is easy to follow, whether you work, travel or stay at home. For men, too.

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yours: get the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. (Not Grapefruit Diet). That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $1.25 ($1.50 for Rush Service), cash is O.K., to: Ski Team Diet, 279 Sheffield Dr., Dept. RC, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93103. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do! ©

Trophies O.K., But Prefers Stanley Cup

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Orr of the Boston Bruins was presented with a pair of trophies at the National Hockey League's annual awards luncheon—but he says he'd gladly trade the two he got for one he missed—the Stanley Cup.

Orr, the 23-year-old whiz, won the Hart Memorial Trophy as the league's Most Valuable Player and the James Norris Memorial Trophy as the NHL's top defenseman over the regular 78-game schedule.

Other winners Monday were center Gil Perreault of the Buffalo Sabres, getting the Calder Trophy as the league's top rookie, and Johnny Bucyk, the veteran Boston left winger who won the Lady Byrd award as the player best combining ability with gentlemanly conduct.

Phil Esposito of the Bruins brought the Boston trophy collection to four when he accepted the Art Ross Trophy for his explosive scoring—152 points on 76 goals and 76 assists.

The goaltending pair of Ed Giacomin and Gilles Villemure of the New York Rangers accepted the Vezina Trophy as the top netminders during the past season.

Orr became only the second defenseman to win the Hart twice and tied a record with his fourth straight James Norris award.

"Any member of the Canadiens or Black Hawks like to trade two-for-one right now? Orr asked. Montreal and Chicago are in a best-of-seven Stanley Cup final. The Bruins were eliminated in the quarter-finals by the Canadiens.

Doubts Pro Gridders Will Strike

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League says he is inclined to think there won't be a players' strike in the league again this summer.

He made the comment in answer to a question while here Monday to help dedicate a $550,000 addition to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

"I don't want to flatly come out and say that things will be settled because that might antagonize some people," the commissioner said.

"Many of the differences that seemed to be major have been settled. My feeling is that neither side would want to see things go into the situation of last summer. So I'm optimistic that everything can be straightened out before training camp time."

Joe Frazier Plans Trip to Japan

TOKYO (AP) — World heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier, who also has a night club act, may visit Japan in September for singing performances and two exhibition fights against Japanese light heavyweights, a Japanese show business promoter said today.

Toyoo Yokiyama, president of Tokyo's Universal Orient Promotions, said he issued an invitation earlier this year to Frazier and his musical group, the Knockouts, to make a two-week performance tour of Japan.

He said he received a reply from Frazier saying he could make the trip in September. But, Yokiyama said, he still has to work out financial terms for the trip with the boxing champion.

Yokiyama said Frazier would also be accompanied by a three-girl dancing team, the Glories.

Yokiyama declined to disclose financial conditions for the trip.

Kenji Yonekura, a boxing manager, said Japanese light heavyweights Animal Fuji and Dynamite Takigawa, both 25, would probably be selected as Frazier's opponents for the exhibition fights.

Nicklaus' Winnings Now $131,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, winner of last week-end's Byron Nelson Classic, has substantially increased his lead in earnings and points on the pro golf tour, the PGA Tournament Players Division said Monday.

Nicklaus, pocketing $25,000 at the classic in Dallas, Tex., has now won $131,787 this year and amassed 130,807.5 points in the standings which determine the qualifiers for next year's tour.

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset Low Heart-Beat May Explain Canonero's Win in Kentucky Derby

BALTIMORE (AP) — No matter what the equine bloodlines say about the staying power of Kentucky Derby winner Canonero II, there's a radiologist in Baltimore who wasn't surprised by his stamina.

When the colt scored a surprise victory in the Derby, after being overlooked by the handicappers, the second guessers studied previous races to see what they missed.

About the only item most could come up with was that Canonero II was the lone member of the 20-horse Derby field who had previously raced the Derby distance of 1 1/4 miles.

But after administering an electrocardiogram to Canonero II at Pimlico, where he will compete in Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness, at Pimlico, Dr. George Burke reported the colt's heartbeat was "fantastic."

"He registered 30 heart beats a minute on our portable EKG machine," Burke said, "which is just about as low as a horse will go."

"I think his score of 30 compares favorably with the heart beat of Jim Ryan, the famous miler. The normal heart in humans is in the 70 range, but Ryan tested at 34. That's why his stamina is so great."

Burke said thoroughbreds in training usually have a heart beat of between 30 and 40. The horse with the low beat pumps as much blood, sometimes more, but his stamina is greater because less effort is required. Another Preakness starter, Royal J.D., registered 36, but Burke said a passing ambulance at the time of the test may have made the colt nervous.

Six horses under the care of trainer Hubert Hine were tested at between 32 and 38 beats a minute—the lowest by Foreign Comet, a good allowance class campaigner.

Kansas City Breaks Jinx of Orioles

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer The Kansas City Royals have obviously said 23-skidoo to the Baltimore Orioles' jinx over them while the New York Mets caught up with Houston's Wade Blasingame just as he was about to count 10 and out.

After losing 23 straight games to the Orioles the last two years, Kansas City made it three out of four over Baltimore this season with a 4-1 victory Monday night behind the slugging of Amos Otis and Bruce Dal Canton's five-hit pitching.

The Mets had never beaten Blasingame and were in danger of dropping their 10th in a row to the Astros' left-hander until Bud Harrelson singled home two runs in the seventh inning for a 2-1 triumph.

Elsewhere on Monday's slim major league slate, San Francisco and Juan Marichal edged Cincinnati 3-2, Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs struck out 12 and became the National League's first six-game winner by blanking Philadelphia 3-0. St. Louis whipped Montreal 8-5 and Detroit downed California 5-2.

Dal Canton and loser Dave McNally were locked in a scoreless battle with two out in the fifth inning when the Royals took a 1-0 lead on singles by Freddie Patek, Cookie Rojas and Otis, who earlier singled and doubled. Otis then homered in the seventh following Jerry May's double and a walk.

Baltimore's only run came in the eighth and was unearned when left fielder Carl Taylor dropped a two-out fly ball with a runner on second.

Manager Bob Lemon disclosed that Otis did his heavy hitting on an upset stomach. Blasingame had protected a 1-0 lead on singles by Bob Watson and Denis Menke and a double play grounder from the second inning until the seventh when Jerry Grote, who broke up a no-hit bid in the fifth, lashed a one-out double.

Don Hahn got an infield hit and took second on Tommie Agee's tap in front of the plate, with Grote holding third. Harrelson then drilled his decisive hit to center field.

Marichal, who recorded his 2,000th career strikeout, held the Reds to one hit until the sixth when Pete Rose singled and Tony Perez homered. By that time, however, the Giants had all their runs with Willie Mays, Ken Henderson and Tito Fuentes getting the RBIs.

Jenkins fired a four-hitter at the Phillies, retiring 17 consecutive batters between singles by Larry Bowa in the third and eighth. Billy Williams doubled off Chris Short in the sixth, took third on Jim Hickman's single and scored the only run Jenkins needed on Joe Pepitone's grounder. In the eighth, Glenn Beckert singled and Hickman homered.

The Cardinals, who filled the bases with none out in the seventh inning of a tie game, pushed across five runs after reliever Mike Marshall picked up two outs. Marshall then walked Ted Sizemore and Dick Schofield, pitcher Jerry Reuss belted a ground-rule double and Lou Brock singled the final run across.

Joe Hague drove in the first three St. Louis runs with a pair of homers.

The Tigers jumped in front of the Angels 2-0 in a weird first inning that consisted of a single, walk, two errors and two wild pitches.

Jim Northrup singled with two out and raced to third on Andy Messersmith's wild pick-off attempt. Norm Cash walked and took second while Northrup scored on a wild pitch. When catcher John Stephenson's

Hurting on Court, Utah O.K. at Gate

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Utah Stars are hurting on the court but not at the gate as the American Basketball Association championship playoffs against Kentucky returns to the Salt Palace.

Wednesday night's fifth game between the Stars and Colonels was sold out at 13,208 Monday, giving Utah a 77,147 total for six playoff games, including three against Indiana for the ABA Western Division title. That's an average of 12,858 per game.

Attendance for the first four games between Utah and Kentucky outdrew four-game Milwaukee-Baltimore National Basketball Association playoffs, 47,459 to 45,623. However, the Salt Palace and Louisville's Freedom Hall have larger seating capacities.

The best-of-seven Utah-Kentucky series is now down to the best-of-three as the Colonels won Friday night and Saturday in Louisville to knot the series at 2-2.

Utah coach Bill Sharman says any home-court advantage is needed Wednesday night to offset ailments of three key players — Zelmo Beaty, Merv Jackson and Red Robbins.

Robbins, who had averaged 18.7 points a game in the playoffs, came down with an upset stomach Friday and was still ailing Monday.

Beaty, who has played the ABA's scoring leader, Dan Issel, head-to-head, says he is suffering headaches that begin in the second half. The headaches have been occurring for several weeks, he says.

Beaty's primary problem in the last two games, however, was foul trouble. He was whistled for three before the half Saturday and fouled out before Utah pulled even at 119-119 in

177-Miles-an-Hour Lap Startles 'Indy' Track Forecasters

By MIKE HARRIS Associated Press Sports Writer INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — In years past, drivers were well aware what speeds they and their opponents were capable of. Predictions of the speed needed to capture the pole position for the Indianapolis 500-mile race were a dime a dozen. Not so this year. With only four days remaining before the first weekend of qualifications, it is nearly impossible to find a driver who'll predict his own speed, let alone what speed will take the pole.

The reason for the disappearance of the traditional wholesale prophecies is 34-year-old Mark Donohue of Media, Pa. Nobody knows how fast this graduate engineer from Brown University can really go in his McLaren-Offenhauser.

Donohue continued to stun nearly everyone at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Monday as he turned in a 177.340-miles-per-hour lap, second only in the history of the Speedway to his own 177.901 a week ago.

He has consistently turned in lap speeds in excess of 176 miles per hour, something unheard of here until this May. An unprecedented 11 drivers have joined the exclusive "170 Club," turning in at least one lap on the 2 1/2-mile track averaging more than 170.

Peter Revson, 175.063; Bobby Unser, 175.0; Mario Andretti, 174.520; Al Unser, 174.4, and Mike Mosley, 174.4, have done the best behind Donohue. But the 2.9 miles per hour difference between Bobby Unser's best and Donohue's best looks nearly insurmountable.

Al Unser, the man who sat on the pole and won the 1970 race, sat in the grass near the pit wall Monday morning and shook his head.

"There's no way I'm going to make a prediction (on the speed it will take to win the pole). Not the way Mark's been running," Unser said.

BATTING — Amos Otis, Royals, slammed a three-run homer, a double and two singles, driving in all Kansas City's runs in a 4-1 triumph over Baltimore.

PITCHING — Ferguson Jenkins, Cubs, hurled a four-hitter and struck out 12 in blanking Philadelphia 3-0 and becoming the National League's first six-game winner.

Tuesday, May 11, 1971 regulation play.

Kentucky won 129-125 in overtime on the scoring of Louie Dampier, who finished with 33. Dampier had been held considerably under his 18-point average by Jackson, whose knee injury worsened after the series' opening game.

Jackson played only 15 minutes Friday night and 24 Saturday.

The teams return to Louisville next Saturday for a nationally televised sixth game. If necessary, the seventh game will be played in Utah May 18.

4th Game for Hockey Title Set Tonight

MONTREAL (AP) — "We got the breaks Sunday, but that's not to say things couldn't change," Montreal Coach Al MacNeil said as his Canadiens prepared for tonight's fourth game in the National Hockey League championship against Chicago.

The Canadiens used those breaks—and a breakdown in Chicago's weary and penalty-decimated defense—to rally from a two-goal deficit and beat the Black Hawks 4-2 Sunday. But the Hawks still hold a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup series which shifts back to Chicago Thursday night.

"They're too good a club to take lightly," MacNeil said of his rivals. And Canadiens' Captain Jean Beliveau added: "We were down two games and two goals and it was a great comeback, but we have to win the next one. That's the big game."

Coach Billy Reay of the Hawks was still fuming over Pete Mahovich's goal which brought the Canadian's back from a 2-0 deficit.

"Pete should have been called for hooking," said Reay. "Otherwise, he would never scored the goal."

Ad Piracy

Poster ads for a circus were so eye-catching that a printer made up some copies—without asking anyone's permission. The owner of the circus promptly filed suit, charging infringement of copyright. But in court, the printer argued:

"More advertisements cannot be copyrighted. The Constitution says copyright is intended only for the 'useful arts'. That means something on a higher artistic level than just ads, which are plain commercialism."

Nevertheless, the court ruled that ads are indeed protectable by copyright and held the printer liable. The court said the Constitution drew no line between high-brow and lowbrow art.

In earlier years, many courts did draw such a line. But today, almost everywhere, ads are entitled to the same copyright protection as a book or a painting. Courts have recognized that a great deal of money and a great deal of talent are now going into the creation of ads.

It is still true, however, that a copyright won't stand up if the ad is dishonest. Thus:

A series of ads was developed by a sales agency, to be used by piano dealers. When one dealer began using the ads without permission, the agency sued him for copyright infringement.

But the judge refused to mix in, when he discovered that the ads were riddled with deceit.

"The law should extend its protection," he said, "only (to ads) that speak the truth."

Furthermore, only the specific details of an ad—the words, the drawings—are protected, not the general idea.

In another case a merchant advertised a contest in which people were supposed to write letters, telling why they liked to shop in his store.

Later, another merchant announced a contest along the same lines, but describing it in different language. Was this an infringement of copyright?

A court said no, since only the general idea had been copied. If general ideas were copyrightable, said the court, one person could stake out an entire field of thought and keep it as his own private monopoly.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Recent Study Is Controversial

Dear Dr. Lamb—After 12 years of taking an oral tablet for diabetes, a few days ago I was ordered by my doctor to stop taking the medicine. He told me the government had condemned this drug as dangerous. Can you explain why?

Dear Reader—This is an outgrowth of a recent report on the study of the effectiveness of oral medicines in the treatment of diabetes. The study, incidentally, was not conducted by the government. It was a statistically designed experiment and the results showed that individuals taking the oral diabetic tablet didn't do as well as patients treated by diet alone. The study even suggested that there was a larger number of complications in the patients taking the oral tablet.

Not every one has agreed with the results of the study, but the findings were sufficiently conclusive that the Food and Drug Administration, The American Medical Assn. and the American Diabetic Assn. all adopted the position that, wherever possible, dietary management was preferable to administration of oral diabetic tablets. Recommendations made by these organizations are not legally binding, of course. Your doctor elects to follow them.

You might well ask, why wasn't this information known before? The obvious answer is that the study hadn't been done previously. The Food and Drug Administration has never had sufficient funds or personnel to evaluate all the new medicines available to the medical profession.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is another hand from our match against Brazil in the World's championship. The bidding in the box is what took place when Jim Jacoby and Bobby Wolff held the North-South cards for North America.

The Brazilian East player elected to double five clubs. He held two aces and felt that his good spades in back of North's spade suit would give South some trouble. He turned out to be wrong since South held just one spade and with 12 trumps in the combined hands there was no problem about handling any potential losers except for one heart and one diamond.

The bidding went the same way at the other table until the five-club bid came around to Bobby Goldman, who held the East hand for North America.

Bobby thought about doubling five clubs, but came to the conclusion that he wouldn't set it more than one trick and possibly five clubs would make. In any event there was a very good chance that five hearts would breeze home. Therefore, Bobby bid it.

South doubled that and as you readers can see five hearts would make easily but at this point Gabriel Chagas who played magnificently for Brazil throughout the entire tournament made the brilliant decision to go to six clubs. That decision saved something from the wreck, but we scored 550 at one table and 100 at the other for 12 IMPs.

What do you do now?

A—Bid six hearts. Your partner is trying for a slam beyond game. You have enough to bid it.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding one heart your partner has rebid three clubs over your one diamond. What do you do now?

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The echidna, or spiny anteater, is native to Australia and has sharp spines like a porcupine. The echidna is, like the platypus, an egg-laying mammal. The World Almanac says it has a long, flexible beak which it uses to probe into nests of ants which it catches with its sticky tongue.

Arkansas News Briefs

MARION, Ark. (AP) — A Crittenden County Grand Jury investigation into alleged mis-handling of county funds by Sheriff Marion Thomas and A. B. Carter, Crittenden County clerk, was continued Monday until May 31.

The state requested the continuance due to the illness in the family of a witness.

A Legislative Joint Auditing Committee audit alleges misuse of $62,917 in county funds by Thomas and $9,267 by Carter. Thomas has repaid $26,365 and Carter $125.

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — John Seabaugh, manager of Truck Transport, Inc. here, said workers have set up pickets at the plant following a work stoppage.

Seabaugh said some of the plant's 25 employees walked off the job Saturday.

He said he did not know why the workers went on strike and that no contact had been made with Teamsters Local Union 878, which Seabaugh said represented the employees.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Board of Apportionment was expected to select publicly Wednesday or possibly today a tentative redistricting plan for the Arkansas legislature.

Gov. Dale Bumpers said Friday the tentative plan would be kept secret to "avoid confusion." He said Monday, however, he thought making it public at the time it was adopted "would be the better way to do it."

The plan will be tentative so an audit of its population distribution can be made before it is made final.

Eugene Kelly, Bumpers executive secretary, said he thought it would take about 10 days to audit the redistricting maps. Also, he said the audit probably would cover such political aspects as the effect of the new districts on minority groups and political parties.

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Charles F. Cole, 69, of Batesville, an unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor in 1938 and a former clerk for U. S. District Court for the Eastern District of Arkansas, died Monday.

Cole, a lawyer, retired as federal court clerk in 1967, after holding the job for more than seven years.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the First United Methodist Church in Batesville.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers has recalled and signed the primary election bill (SB 425). The governor had vetoed the bill earlier this month.

The governor said when the bill reached his desk the first time, the measure still carried an amendment that the General Assembly actually had voted to remove. Bumpers had vetoed the bill on the basis of the amendment.

The bill sets primary dates for the political parties in June and July.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Judge Paul Wolfe granted a defense motion Monday admitting Olive Simpson, 58, of near Russellville to the State Hospital for examination.

Simpson is charged with first-degree murder in the shotgun slaying May 1 of Charles Gardner, 54, a Russellville lawyer.

Formal arraignment of Simpson will be held after the examination period ends.

Wolfe is sitting as a special judge in the case.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bureau of Sport Fisheries said today that a $25,000 contract had been awarded to Highway Dump-Haulers of Little Rock for the purchase of gravel for the White River National Wildlife Refuge near DeVitt.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Trelmer Williamson, 58, of Bay (Craighead County) was charged Monday with assault with intent to kill in connection with the shooting Friday of city Marshal Bill Findley of Bay.

Authorities said Williamson shot Findley in the hand after Findley had arrested him earlier on a charge of threatening bodily harm. That charge stemmed from a dispute over a property line with a neighbor.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Miss Paula Keith, 20, of Little Rock, Miss Arkansas Universe, left late Monday for Miami Beach to compete in the Miss USA Pageant which begins Thursday.

Health Board Closes Down Home Food Spot for Hungry Blacks

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Bobby Morgan recently converted his kitchen into a breakfast hall for black children. Three weeks later the highly successful project fell victim to health regulations.

Morgan, 33, a sociology major at the University of Arkansas, said he was working with five black youths who sold him on the need for a program to serve hungry children in the neighborhood. The youths had been convicted of stealing meat from a grocery.

After deciding to improve the situation, Morgan contacted churches in the area. They refused the use of their kitchens, saying such a program was not needed. But, Morgan persisted and finally persuaded members of the community to donate all supplies, including paper plates and napkins. He then volunteered the use of his own kitchen.

Amnesty for Haiti Exiles Considered

MIAMI (AP) — Haitian exile leader Paul A. Colas was due in Port au Prince, Haiti today for talks about amnesty for Haitian exiles.

Colas left here Monday for San Juan, Puerto Rico, after four hours of argument with airline and Haitian government officials about his visa. He finally was granted permission to enter Haiti.

Colas, who lives in New York, denied he sought political office in Haiti. He said he wanted to return to Port au Prince temporarily under an amnesty for exiles declared by Haiti's 19-year-old president, Jean-Claude Duvalier.

Duvalier took over as president after the death April 21 of his father, Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier. Soon after taking power, young Duvalier said all Haitians would be welcomed back.

In San Juan, another Haitian exile, Francois Benoit, said he hoped to form an opposition movement inside Haiti.

Benoit heads a revolutionary movement known as MR12, one of several exile groups trying to make contact with the young president. Benoit said he went to San Juan from New York to contact "key exiles" in Puerto Rico.

Although Benoit said his group is "talking with prominent leaders" in the Haitian government, Duvalier may be reluctant to let the 35-year-old former army officer return. Benoit was accused in 1963 of masterminding a plot to kidnap Jean-Claude and in 1968 participated in an unsuccessful invasion of Haiti.

The exiles' moves followed rumors that spread in Haiti and among Haitian exiles elsewhere that Duvalier and his family were planning to leave the country.

The rumors triggered a rally by 2,000 Haitian exiles in New York during which George Chevalier, 32, of Queens, was wounded. Louis Vilmenay, an exiled lieutenant in the Haitian army, was charged with the shooting Friday and paroled for a May 20 hearing.

ic Opportunity, permitted Morgan and his volunteers to use their car to pick up the food.

For three weeks, Morgan served a breakfast of eggs, bacon and pancakes to children. Sometimes he had 300 children coming to his house daily in shifts.

The children eligible for breakfast came from homes where both parents worked.

On April 5, the county health office shut the kitchen down, saying that the facility was not suitable to support such a large-scale operation.

Morgan is appealing that decision. He says he sees value in the program beyond helping the children.

"It was not just a breakfast program, the idea was that it was a black thing," Morgan said. He said the program was a means of blacks helping themselves.

Morgan said the whole project also made him lose his food stamps. He said that the welfare department took his stamps away when the program began.

He was receiving the stamps for his wife and their two children.

Mrs. Albert Hannah, director of the county welfare office, said that Morgan was still certified to receive food stamps.

Morgan says that he still wants to continue with the breakfast program. He said that without it the neighborhood children will go to school hungry.

The schools in the area provide a roll and milk to children for 14 cents daily, Morgan said. But, he said, some parents cannot afford it.

Charles Johnson, director of the Washington County Office of Economic Opportunity, said there were different opinions on whether the breakfast program was needed in the community.

"Some say yes (about the need) and some say no," he said. "Now, if someone sees a need, then there is a need."

Johnson said his office had no funds available for such a program.

A spokesman for the Fayetteville schools said that two schools have a breakfast program and two more schools will have the service next year.

Fregosi Has Serious Foot Injury

ANAHEIM (AP) — California Angel shortstop Jim Fregosi has been sent home to undergo an examination on an infected right foot that may require an operation, the Angels announced Monday.

Fregosi, the last original Angel of the expansion team formed in 1961, had been suffering from a neuroma, a tumor on the nerve ending between the big toe and the second toe.

The injury first began bothering the Golden Glove shortstop about two weeks ago and on April 29 he had to come out of a game against Cleveland when the pain became severe. He has played only sparingly since.

Last Friday the pain again was severe and Fregosi came out of California's game at Cleveland after hitting a home run in two at bats. He then received a cortisone shot but Sunday night was sent back home for an examination.

A small combo of local musicians provided the program at the Hope Rotary Club's luncheon meeting on Friday, May 7 at the Town and Country. Bill Tolleson arranged the program and introduced the performers, Winfred Huckabee with electric guitar; Rotarian Harold Eakley on the saxophone; Mrs. Arthur Strech, pianist; and Mrs. Clarence Geist, vocalist.

The women are members of the Friday Music Club, which observed National Music Week May 2-8. They opened the program with "The Sound of Music." The instrumentalists played "Two Hearts that Pass in the Night" and "Magic is the Moonlight." All joined in presenting "You Stepped Out of a Dream," "Everything I Have is Yours," "Take Me in Your Arms," and "Bei Mir Bist Du Schon."

In the absence of the president, Benny Coleman, welcomed a new member, Bob Gullett, who is transferring from the Prescott Club, and two guests, Dr. Bill Capps and Deputy Sheriff Fred McCulley.

Object to Expansion Dues

SEATTLE (AP) — The Buffalo and Cleveland National Basketball Association teams are balking at paying expansion dues to Seattle because of the Spencer Haywood affair, Sam Schulman, Seattle owner, said Monday.

Schulman discussed the situation in a telephone interview with the Seattle Post-Intelligencer from Los Angeles.

"They wrote letters saying they were unduly injured by our signing Haywood, Schulman said, "and thus refuse to pay our share of the annual expansion payment."

"This would amount to about $40,000 per team," Schulman said. "I'm trying to get this straightened out through proper channels, which is through commissioner Walter Kennedy and the Board of Governors."

Seattle's signing of Haywood before graduation of his college class touched off a furor that was finally settled when the courts upheld the action. Haywood had played for Denver of the American Basketball Association.

day night was sent back home for an examination.

Enemy Drive Halted

By GEORGE ESPER and CARL ROBINSON

Associated Press Writers
SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops have halted a major South Vietnamese drive into eastern Cambodia, knocked two armored cavalry regiments out of action and put the Saigon forces on the defensive.

But U.S. advisers say the South Vietnamese operation has kept three enemy divisions from crossing the border into the 11 provinces surrounding Saigon.

"The primary mission now," said one U.S. adviser, "is to block any infiltration across Highway 7 into South Vietnam."

The South Vietnamese in early February pushed 30 miles into Cambodia. Now they have fallen back to Route 7 just across the border. The U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have taken over the original mission, destruction of the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong 5th, 7th and 9th divisions and their base camps.

"There is no indication of any enemy divisional sized elements coming back into Military Region 3," the Saigon area, one officer said. "They have been contained by the South Vietnamese."

This has prevented the enemy from disrupting pacification efforts in the countryside and has paved the way for more withdrawals of American ground forces, the advisers say.

Much of the failure of the ground force to meet all its objectives is attributed to the death of the field commander, Gen. Do Cao Tri, in a helicopter crash less than three weeks after he launched the operation. Tri was South Vietnam's most aggressive field commander, and his death robbed the offensive of its momentum.

MACK McLARTY

Hempstead County Representative Mack McLarty spoke to the Lions Club Monday noon at Town and Country.

In his opening remarks Mack recounted some experiences in door to door campaigning that were both serious and amusing. At the beginning of the race his grandmother, grandfather, mother, and mother-in-law all suffered broken bones or illness requiring hospitalization, which would have looked ominous to the superstitious.

Dogs were quite a problem in door to door visiting, one knocking his wife down, but a friendly postman came to his aid on that score. Mack told of one voter who said he could not vote for him - such honesty being unusual, he asked why and was told that he had crossed into another county.

Representative McLarty said that the people on the whole were very fair and kind to him and that his youth did not seem to hurt with the older voters. A few years ago the average age of legislators was 54 with three terms behind them; this year an average age of 35 on first or second terms.

The speaker then reviewed the legislative session telling the major legislation passed or drawing the most interest. He discussed the reorganization act, the tax issues, pollution legislation, prison reform, and redistricting in which Hempstead will go from Hamerschmitt's to Pryors district. In conclusion Representative McLarty voiced opinion that to properly handle the vast amount of legislation a longer session was needed or at least some fulltime workers to handle preliminary studies to aid the legislators.

He stressed the need to handle problems on a local basis and to temper States right's demands with State's responsibility.

Program Chairman Don Freel arranged the program.

Dr. Bill Capps, dentist, associated with Dr. Lester Sitzes was the guest of Don Freel. George Wright Jr. was guest of Claud Byrd and Glenon Huckabee was guest of Frank King.

He'll be ready for college before you know it . . .
